THOUSANDS VISIT THE FAIR GROUNDS

Opening Yesterday an Auspicious One.

THE RACING FINE.

Thousands of Visitors Visited Grounds, Viewed the Exhibits, Walked the Midway, Saw the Shows and Races—The Exhibits Better Than on Previous Years—Agricultural Exhibits Especially Fine—The Racing Yesterday—The Weather Ideal.

With ideal weather conditions the Central Carolina Fair was opened yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock and throughout the day thousands of visitors strolled up and down the midway, inspected the exhibits, took in some of the shows, saw the free attractions and races. As is usually the case the first day of the fair cannot boast of an unusual attendance, but today and tomorrow will doubtless be record breakers. According to the past records there are usually three times the number of visitors on Wednesday as on Tuesday and a still larger number on Thursday, the banner day.

It can be said without fear of contradiction that the exhibits this year are better than ever before, taken as a whole. Some may not be as good as on last year, but this is doubtful, but a large number are far better. Especially is this true with the agricultural exhibits. Then there are exhibits by parties who have never exhibited here before.

Every visitor to the fair will profit by a visit through the agricultural building. Here every inch of space is filled with articles raised on Guilford county soil. Nearly every known product that can be raised in this climate is represented in the motley array of produce. Some of the specimens are very fine indeed and the judges were compelled to give the articles their careful attention before a verdict could be secured as to the prize winners.

Another exhibit that will interest everybody is found in the educational department. This space is filled with the exhibits of the State Normal College, the A. & M. College, the State Department of Agriculture at Raleigh and the Guilford County Boys' Corn Club. There is an interesting collection of articles made at the Normal and at the A. & M. The State Department of Agriculture Experiment Station has a large variety of seeds, together with considerable information regarding the seeds. The Boys' Corn Club has on exhibit samples of corn raised by the several contestants for prizes offered by the association. There are a large number of exhibitors and the corn is of good quality and it shows that the Guilford boys can raise corn.

Throughout the entire main building are numerous exhibits by the merchants and manufacturers of the city. Also the ladies fancy work department and the pantry department. Both are filled with exhibits.

An exhibit that is attracting attention is that of the mill villages. Besides numerous articles made by the employees there is an exact reproduction of the White Oak school with a hundred or more tiny tots playing in the school yard. This exhibit caught the eyes of all who visited the main building yesterday.

Passing to the poultry department one will find an unusually large number of entries and the fowls are up to the usual standards despite the fact that the majority were entered by local fanciers and not by foreign fanciers who raise especially for fairs.

In the live stock department there are to be found the usual number of entries, the cows, sheep, horses and hogs being fully up to the standard usually seen at the fair.

The midway is well filled with shows and these appear to be of better quality than has been seen at previous fairs. There were none of those objectionable shows usually seen at fairs in evidence yesterday. There are several animal shows.

The free attractions are undoubtedly better than the management has ever offered to the patrons before. The acrobatic stunts of the Cornells were declared by many to be the best they had ever seen. These perform each afternoon just in front of the grand stand. Then the high wire performing was fine, the artist doing many hazardous stunts while poised in the air on a little wire. On account of the fact that the spectators could not be induced to assist in floating the balloons only one went up yesterday. All were ready to go up had the assistance been proffered. All three will go up this afternoon, however. Tonight the fireworks will be given and this treat will doubtless be enjoyed by several thousand. There will be no admission fee.

The races yesterday were greatly enjoyed. The track was in fine condition and good time was made. The first race was hotly contested, five heats being required to decide on a winner. In the 2:27 pace the time on the local track in this event was lowered two minutes. The following were the winners:

First event—2:27 trot, stake, purse $500. Time 2:19 3-4. First money Greyhound, entered by George G. Stiles; second Omar, entered by C. B. Tansy, Agt., Chattanooga, Tenn.; third Nomin, entered by G. M. Harden, Raleigh; fourth, Crescens, Jr., entered by M. E. Doyle, Lynchburg.

GOVERNOR GRANTS PARDONS TO TWO

Both Are Conditional on Good Behavior—One Pardon Is For Robert Shoffner, Colored, of Guilford County—Congressman Bell, of Texas, Unable to Make Addresses In State.

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—Two pardons, both conditional, were granted today by Gov. Kitchin. Le Caldwell, of Warren county, is pardoned from a six years sentence in the penitentiary after two years service. The crime was manslaughter. However his victim had a few days before the killing attacked and beaten the prisoner's mother, apparently without cause. Furthermore Caldwell warned the deceased when he met him that he intended to beat him or get beaten. The deceased struck Caldwell with a hoe that Caldwell wrenched away from him and struck him with it. The deceased then drew his knife, cut Caldwell in three places. As he ran away from the deceased he fell into a ditch. It was after he was down and the deceased was coming in on him that Caldwell used his revolver with deadly effect. The governor says in his statement of reasons for the pardon that Caldwell lived six years in Manchester, Va., where he was regarded as honest, industrious, temperate and polite. He has been a model prisoner.

The second pardon is for Robert Shoffner, Guilford county, a negro charged with criminal intimacy with a girl under fourteen years old. He had been charged with criminal outrage but submitted to the lesser charge by consent at the trial. The governor says that indications are that many believed the man to be innocent. His pardon has been pressed by influential friends through sympathy and without any fees, the trial judge and solicitor taking the view along with others that the fellow has had sufficient punishment for whatever degree of guilt he might have had in the affair.

The State Democratic campaign management announces with distinct regret the inability of Congressman Bell of Texas to come into North Carolina this week for the three speeches for which he was billed at Goldsboro, Asheville and Raleigh. Sickness in the Congressman's family is the reason for the cancellation of the engagements. There seems to be no possibility either of arranging for later dates with this distinguished publicist and campaigner. A charter was issued today for the W. A. Adams Co., Oxford, capital $15,000, by W. A. Adams, J. P. Taylor and others for mercantile business.

ABLE SPEECH BY MR. E. J. JUSTICE

Was Heard by Large Crowd Last Night.

Ex-Speaker Poured Some Hot Shots Into Republican Camp—Was Frequently Greeted by Applause—In Reply to Mr. Holton's Letter Said It Would Be More Fitting For Mr. Holton to Arrange For Debate With Judge Bynum—Butler and Bonds.

In the court house last night a large crowd heard Mr. E. J. Justice make an able and forceful political speech. The ex-Speaker poured some hot shots into the Republican camp and he was frequently greeted by applause. The speech was declared by all to be a splendid effort and full of conclusive facts that the Democratic principles are better than those of the Republican party in this state.

Mr. A. Wayland Cooke called the meeting to order and presented Mr. Justice. Mr. Justice spoke for more than an hour and a half and below are some extracts from his speech. As was expected Mr. Justice took occasion to reply to the letter written by District Attorney Holton in reply to Chairman Sherrell's invitation to a joint debate. He created much laughter when he said that it would seem more proper for Mr. Holton to debate with ex-Judge Bynum, or have Col. Lusk and Mr. Thomas Settle debate the local self-government plank of the Republican platform. As to the differences between Mr. Kitchin and himself Mr. Justice said they were only personal. Mr. Justice said in part:

Political parties ought to be organizations by means of which men who think alike co-operate together to have their views enacted into law, and to see that these laws are enforced.

Political parties are necessary to the end that the energies and efforts of the people may not be dissipated and wasted. You cannot fight organized greed unless you have the virtue which opposes greed, organized.

The Saviors of mankind had to establish an organization to fight the devil. The duty of patriots is to organize, and with it fight the opponents of the people.

Every mistake does not justify a bolt of the party, but every desertion of principle by a member of a party that stands for the right, does justify every other member of the party in placing the responsibility and odium of such desertion upon the individual.

The Democratic party of North Carolina is the only means known among men whereby we can contribute anything to the movement throughout the nation to bring the government back to the people.

The Democratic party may make mistakes, as do all other institutions of human origin and set about by human weakness, and individual Democrats have gotten and probably will get off by pretending to stand for Democratic principles, and then embezzling power, but the vast majority of Democrats honestly stand for the policies they profess to stand for.

No man who believes that a protective tariff is wrong; that trusts are immoral and the maintenance of them ought to be made criminal, and the individuals who form them ought to be imprisoned for artificially controlling prices by means of trusts; that the extortion of railroads by discrimination in interstate freight rates that build up one community at the expense of another is intolerable; that subsidies are wrong; that the money of the country ought not to be controlled by a few large bankers of the country to the extent that they can control prices by controlling the money supply, ought to be a Republican in North Carolina or a "stand-pat" Republican anywhere.

These special interests co-operate to control the government, to enrich the men connected with these interests, and, of course, they do it at the expense of the people. They do it by defeating the operation of the law of supply and demand, and making the price of living so high that living at all has come to be a burden too great for many to bear, and their only alternative is to die for want of something to live on.

The insurgent Republicans in California, Kansas, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Washington, Minnesota and Maine are in revolt against the Republican policy of protective tariff, trusts, railroad discrimination, extortions, central bank, and subsidies, which are the means by which the people are robbed, just as the Democrats of the South are, in opposition to their schemes and for exactly the same reason.

The Republican party in North Carolina is fighting with Taft, Root, Cannon, Aldrich, Crane, Morgan, Rockefeller and other representatives of the interests to control the government against the people. On this issue patriots of all parties should side with the Democrats. Morehead, Grant and Cowles never voted against Aldrich and Cannon on a single proposition, and did vote against the insurgents on every proposition before Congress, and their votes represented the views of Butler, Hicks, Holton, Adams and the other men who run the Republican party in this State. The Daily News, well said of them, editorially on September 10, "We congratulate our three Republican Congressmen on being level-headed and conservative enough to stand squarely by the platform and cherished ideals of the party."

I congratulate the Daily News on its candor.

"Cherished ideals" is good. The Payne-Aldrich bill is a "cherished ideal." A tariff rate of 104 per cent. on woolen schedules is a "cherished ideal." The rules of the House whereby the Speaker suppresses the voice of the majority, as well as the minority is a "cherished ideal." Tariff schedules which make the prices of American manufactured articles lower abroad than at home is a "cherished ideal."

The policy to exploit the people at home by the tariff instead of exploiting the world by legitimate commerce is a "cherished ideal" of the Republican party.

It is not strange that with such a party Marion Butler should be a "cherished ideal."

Respectable Republican Party. The invitation is extended to the people of North Carolina to join the Republican party because it is getting respectable. The Democrats invite the people to stay in, and come into the Democratic party because it still is respectable.

The question of whether the Republican party in North Carolina is going up hill or down is a debatable one.

Some say that the progress from Jim Young to Blackburn, from Blackburn to Adams, and from Adams to Butler is progressing towards respectability, and some think it is away from it. There are arguments on both sides.

If it is towards respectability it presents the interesting problem: How far is it from Butler to respectability, and how long will it take the Republican party to make the trip?

If it is away from it we have the problem given to the little boy: How long will it take a cat to get out of a well if it climbs up one foot every hour and falls back two? His answer was that if his paper lasted he would land that cat in hades.

According to Holton and all his kind, in both parties, we were dangerous and radical, while all the Republicans and some Democrats were declared by Holton and the Republican leaders generally to be "constructive statesmen." They were "safe and sane" because they stood for the trusts and other "cherished ideals" of the Republican party.

Holton does not want to debate with a Democrat, his record for putting the trust magnates in jail during his twelve years as district attorney. Does any one who knows his record doubt his attitude on the trust question?

He dodges an invitation to joint debate by saying Governor Kitchin and I are not agreed on the merits of the anti-trust law of 1909.

I do not think very much of that law because I know that it is the product of a minority of Democrats, and the solid Republican votes.

Governor Kitchin denies responsibility for the short comings of the law, but Mr. Holton and his whole brigade denounced and criticized those Democrats who in 1909 denounced and opposed the trusts.

I am in favor of a series of joint debates between prominent Republicans to settle some interesting questions:

First, I want to hear Butler and Adams on the subject, "Is the Republican party getting respectable?"

Second, I want to hear Settle and Lusk on the question, "Do we favor local self-government, as contemplated by the Republican platform?"

Third, I want to hear Bynum and Holton on the subject, "Are Republicans always at war over offices, never at peace about anything, and has Holton always got his hands in the pockets of his country?"

"Butler and Bonds."

WEDDED IN CHARLOTTE.

Miss Maud Malcolm, of Greensboro, Becomes Bride of Mr. J. C. Springs, Jr.

The following from yesterday's Charlotte News will be of interest to Greensboro people:

The marriage last night of Miss Maud Malcolm, of Greensboro, and Mr. J. C. Springs, Jr., of this city, anticipated in yesterday's News, was attended with much interest and beauty of appointment. The home of Mrs. Alfred Miller, cousin of the bride, where the ceremony took place, was rich in autumn flowers tastefully arranged. Ferns and palms furnished the background of the setting, roses, golden rod and dahlias giving the touch of color. The vows were heard by Rev. H. H. Hulten, D. D., before a floral altar erected for the occasion. There were no attendants.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Miller sang, "Had I a Thousand Lives to Live," being accompanied by Mrs. Harvey Alexander. Mrs. Alexander also rendered the wedding march. An informal reception followed. Mr. and Mrs. Springs will be guests of Mr. Springs' father for several weeks and will then go to housekeeping.

Both are popular young people and this marriage interested many. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. G. W. Malcolm, of Greensboro.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Late estimates on the percentage of recoveries under the new emollient treatment of Bright's Disease are as follows:

Where patient is much weakened and crisis may be expected in from five to ten days, probably not more than 10 per cent to 20 per cent recover. Where physicians aid with efforts to restrain fatal symptoms this percentage is increased. In cases where patients have from thirty to sixty days of life the efficiency is very much higher.

Where patients do not wait until bed-ridden probably three-fourths yield.

And in cases that take the new emollient treatment on the appearance of the disease nearly nine out of ten respond.

Albumen Casts and dropsy do not prevent recovery. The point is that the Renal inflammation should be attacked before the heart and physical system are broken down.

The new emollient treatment is known as Fulton's Renal Compound. It can be had in Greensboro at the Fariss-Klutznick Drug Co.

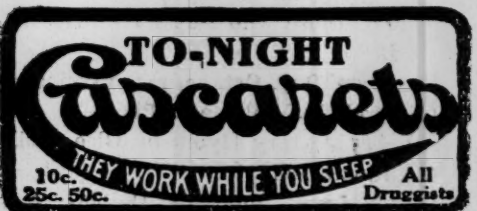

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. THIS MONKEY SHAVES HIMSELF

Human-Like Animal in Ringling Bros. Menagerie Doesn't Use Safety.

Darwin, the famous missing link with Ringling Brothers' circus, has learned to shave himself. And he doesn't use a safety. Several scientists who examined Darwin during the Madison Square Garden engagement were undecided as to the proper classification of the strange creature. They leaned to the belief that he sprang from the chimpanzee family, though his man-like looks and habits were a puzzle to them.

Darwin lives in a house. It has doors, windows, a hot-water heater, pictures on the wall, electric lights and furniture. He is a friendly chap. He laughs like a human being. He is especially fond of children and likes to shake hands with them. During the hour between the opening of the doors and the beginning of the regular performance, he receives all visitors who care to make friends with him. When the show begins, he retires to his cot for a short nap. When the audience is leaving at the conclusion of the show he takes his evening meal on the veranda of his house. He eats at a table with the use of knife and fork and a full table equipment, even to napkin and finger-bowl. He wears the clothes of a man, carries a watch and likes a soothing pipe just before retiring.

When the show comes to Greensboro on Monday, October 24, the student of natural history will find much to delight him in the new menagerie. It is a complete zoological collection. Through one side of the great tent, from end to end, stretches a long line of elephants. There are forty in all, comprehending every variety known. One of them is of peculiar interest because of the fact that it has just celebrated the 214th anniversary of its birth. When George Washington was the President of the United States it made its debut before the public as an exhibit in the London Zoological Gardens. It was then estimated to be 10 years old.

Among the various other specimens are a family of giraffes, hyenas, hippopotami, rhinoceri, gnus, nyghaus, ibixes, yaks, kangaroos, zebras, llamas, horned horses, Philippine cattle, water buffalo, ant-eaters, tapirs, yak vaarts, wart hogs, peacocks, emus, dromedaries, behemoths and all varieties of the cat, bear, deer and monkey tribes.

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits the Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." Sold by Howard Gardner.

MINISTER DEFENDS THE "HOBLE SKIRT."

"Peach-Basket Hat and High-Heeled Shoes Also Products of Good," Says Dr. Johnson.

Boston, Oct. 10.—The hobble skirt has at last found a staunch champion, a man of the cloth, the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, the eloquent preacher of this city. What's more, Pastor Johnson declares that the hobble skirt is one of the fashions of women that indicates balance and normality of mind. He believes that woman's devotion to and pursuit of Dame Fashion should make her more attractive to the male sex from a marriage point of view.

"There is no more potent influence for good in the modern community today," says Dr. Johnson, "than feminine fashion. Not only are the ever-changing fashions of women one of the chief delights of the civilized communities, but it is a safe statement to make that we have today no more conclusive key to a woman's mental and moral development than the clothes she wears."

Much has been said of the high cost of living. The immense sums of money spent annually in this country on apparently useless articles of women's personal decoration are cited as arguments in favor of American extravagance, when as a matter of fact this item is one of our smallest national extravagances. A girl or woman who is self-respecting will always dress fashionably and well. The hobble skirt, the peach-basket hat, high-heeled shoes and all the thousand and one foibles of the feminine sex are entertaining and products of good.

"A girl, who on the other hand, does not care about dress and the latest fashions is not a normal girl. The young man who contemplates marriage nowadays may fight shy of the girl of fashion, but he makes a mistake. He may be a gainer at first, financially, but in the end he pays a terrible price for his shortsightedness. The girl who is lax about her personal appearance is lax mentally and morally. She is not made of the stuff that turns out self-respecting children. She is either a visionary, and, as such, an unreliable element in a community, or she is downright lax and shiftless. In either case she is not a safe proposition for the ordinary young man."

Some women retain their beauty to an advanced age. But women, who regularly endure pain, age rapidly, for suffering leaves its lasting marks on them.

Nearly all women suffer more or less with some form of female trouble. It should not be neglected. Avoid the pain—treat yourself at home by taking Cardui, as thousands of other women have done. Begin at once and give Cardui a fair trial.

TAKE CARDUI

Her Brother

By ROBERT L. JAYNES

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

When I was keepin' store in Arizona a young woman come in on the stage one evenin' and put up at the tavern. The next mornin' she come into my store and tole me she'd come out from the east to find employment. She couldn't stenograph or typewrite. If she could she needn't have come away from home, but she could keep a cash account, sell goods and do any ordinary work about the store. She was a mighty trim little body, and I tole her she'd better git married and let the other feller do the work; but she larked and said it tuk two to make a match. I tuk her in for help, thinkin' if she turned out as well as she looked I wouldn't mind makin' the other one of the two.

But it soon appeared that she wasn't goin' to turn out as well as she looked. First thing I knowed a feller came into the store to see her that looked like a road agent. They seemed to be mighty familiar and did a lot o' talkin' in the back o' the store while I was engaged waitin' on a customer in the front. When the feller went out I said to the young woman, says I: "Rosy"—that was her name—"if you're cahoots with a gang o' robbers the sooner you git out the better."

"Oh, that feller was all right!" she said.

"Who is he?"

"Why, he's my brother."

"Your brother?" I says, turnin' away from her contemptuously. "If that's the kind of family y' belong to I don't think much of yer stock."

There was nothin' more said about it at the time, but I done up a lot o' thinkin'. Fust off I thort I'd better give the young woman the grand bounce, but I didn't know whether she was up to anything or not, and if she wasn't I didn't want to lose her. She wasn't so much use about the store—I didn't have so very much for her to do—but I'd got a hankerin' after her.

Well, the next thing that happened looked kind o' suspicious. I was layin' one night on a settle in the back o' the store when I heered somethin' rattlin' at the front door. I jist reached back under a pillar, tuk my weepin' and let drive through the panel I heered a yell an', goin' to the door, listened. Not hearin' anything more, I opened the door and by the light of a match I struck saw drops o' blood leadin' away. I calc'lated I'd hit some un' who was goin' to rob the store.

Wal, this thing comin' so soon after the visit of Rosy's brother, I didn't know what to think about it. I noticed when I tole her about it she looked kinder queer.

"Hope he warn't yer brother," I said to her, an' I thort she was goin' to faint. Seem' it bothered her to talk about it I didn't say nothin' more, and after awhile she righted, though for a few days she didn't look very cheerful. But one day the feller that she said was her brother come in. He looked kind o' white in the face. He talked with Rosy awhile an' went out.

"Reckon yer brother's been sick," I says, a-sympathizin' with her.

"Yes," she says, "he has."

"What's he do fer a livin'?"

"He aint doin' nothin' jist now. I'm tryin' to git a place fer him. Trade's mighty brisk lately. Don't yer think y' need a shippin' clerk?"

"I don't think I do."

I wondered if she thort I was soft enough to believe the feller was her brother and out of employment. I reckoned he wasn't employed, except when he was holdin' up a coach or somepin' like that. And I reckoned she'd have to do a lot o' coaxin' to git me to take in a man to work who'd tried to rob me and I'd winged when he was startin' in to do it.

But we men are kind o' quar' as well as the wimmen. One day the feller come into the store in a hurry. Rosy was there and turned pale. He said somepin' to her quick, and she p'inted under the counter. He ducked just in time to dodge the sheriff, who come runnin' in with a weepin' in one hand and a pa'r o' bracelets in t'other. Rosy she stood up agin the counter right where the feller wor hid.

"Enny one come in here?" asked the sheriff.

Now, I'm a-goin' to explain why we men is quar' as well as the wimmen. Rosy she give me jist one look. She might as well have sent a few ounces o' lead at me, so far as my doin' enny interference was concerned.

"Hain't seen no one," I says, talkin' parrot-like, jist as Rosy wanted me to.

"Singular; I thort I had him cornered."

He was out in a jiffy, and when the danger was past Rosy put the feller in a back office I had my boots in and called me in too.

"You're a trump!" she says.

"And yer brother's the knave," I says, replyin'.

She could sca'ceely keep from larfin' at my joke. But she didn't. She tole me the feller wor reely her brother, that he'd gone bad and she'd come out to reclaim him. She had got him to promise to go east with her, but she couldn't get him off unless I'd help her instead o' givin' 'em away. I tole her I'd do all I could on condition she'd come back and run her part o' the store and me, too, as she'd been a-doin' of it. She promised, and I got 'em away safe.

She's back now, runnin' both me and the store.

The Danville Register says that it looks as if Judson Harmon will be the Democratic nominee for President in 1912. But what if Woodrow Wilson is elected Governor of New Jersey?

That picture of the new High School building, as shown in the window of the office of the Odell Hardware Company, looks good. Now come on with the building.

Even Mr. Castro is trying to "come back." The ex-dictator of Venezuela has been located in the Canary Islands where he is said to be awaiting eventualities which may restore him to power.

A Boston preacher has come to the defence of the hobble skirt. But can't a preacher find something more spiritual than skirts to talk about? The incident well illustrates, it seems to us, the alleged prevailing tendency to worldliness.

The census gives the State of Delaware a population of 202,322. Those public speakers who favor a "new nationalism" and a diminution of the power of the states perhaps get their idea of Statehood from a contemplation of little Delaware.

"Col. Lusk on the war path," says a headline. But the Colonel is warring on blind tigers despite the fact that the campaign is on full tilt. It is said that this old warhorse of Republicanism finds it impossible to enthuse over his party's deserts this year.

There is a great hue and cry in New York State for direct nominations. But the voters in New York are noted for their independence. It is all right for them to go back on a convention in which they did not participate, at least they can do it without going back on their own word. But it will be different when the primary method of nominating is employed.

The speech of E. J. Justice at the court house last night was an able and effective exposition of present day issues. We are printing today a synopsis of certain parts of the speech feeling sure that it will commend itself to the thoughtful consideration of our readers. Mr. Justice is a man of strong convictions and his convictions are based on careful and painstaking thought and investigation. We do not believe that there is in the State today a more profound student of public affairs than Mr. Justice.

Today Josephus Daniels, J. Y. Joyner, Hannis Taylor and F. P. Venable visit Greensboro in connection with exercises at the Normal College in memory of Dr. C. D. McIver and Mrs. Cornelia Phillips Spencer. The Telegram joins a host of Greensboro people in bidding them welcome. Each in his sphere has won great distinction and is thus well worthy of the meed of admiration and esteem which always goes out to those who have done well what their hands find to do. Such men cannot come into a community without inspiring some one, or some few, or perhaps many to greater and more earnest effort.

The Danville Register looks upon ex-Senator Butler as a blessing for the Democratic party in North Carolina. The Register is right. The day the North Carolina contingent of the G. O. P. gathered Marion Butler to its arms, that day it did the Democratic party in North Carolina yeoman's service. Our Danville contemporary well says that "the injection of Butlerism into the campaign is absolute assurance against Democratic apathy. Nothing is so well calculated to arouse the Democracy and bring out the full Democratic strength." And how is Mr. Butler viewed from the outside? The Register answers for one very discriminating mind, a mind which, we doubt not, reflects the sentiment generally in its section:

Marion Butler was formerly a populist and it was chiefly through his efforts that the fusion of populists and Republicans some years ago was made possible. The domination of the State by that element has never been forgotten, and the participation of Butler in the present campaign will be sufficient to arouse the Democracy to their utmost endeavors to save the State from another such orgy of fusionism and misrule. It is not an ungrounded fear that if Butler and his cohorts again win the ascendancy, an effort will be made to fasten negro influence in politics upon the State, now happily rid of it through Democratic legislation. It would be a calamity for that State if Butler and negroism and the motley crowd of place-hunters and spoilsmen he is endeavoring to weld together should by any possibility again triumph.

THE CHECK TO MOHAMMED.

Rev. Thomas B. Gregory in New York American, Oct. 10.

The great battle of Tours was fought this day, 1,178 years ago—October 10, 732. Tours will ever stand in the front ranks of the supreme battles of the world. The victory arrested forever the progress of the Mohammedan arms in Europe, and thus saved the continent to the Caucasian race and the civilization for which that race stands.

There is nothing in history like the rise of the Mohammedan power. Within a single century from the death of Mohammed his followers had become a world-power. With an energy that seemed to be irresistible, they overran Syria, Persia and Mesopotamia. Egypt and all North Africa fell under their sway; and then, leaping the Strait of Gibraltar, they planted themselves firmly in Spain. After a brief breathing spell, they overleaped the Pyrenees and obtained a lodgment in Southern France. With the Koran in one hand and a sword in the other, the mighty Caliph, Abdelrahman, started out with a powerful Mohammedan army to subdue the whole of France. As far as the Loire everything fell before him, and it seemed that all Europe would come under Moslem rule.

In his northward march Abdelrahman finally reached Tours. His serried ranks stood like solid walls," says an old chronicler—and not far away stood other walls, the Franks, under Charles Martel. Neither Franks nor Arabs realized the importance of the struggle that was about to take place. It was a struggle between East and West, Asia and Europe, the Gospel and the Koran. In a word, the civilization of the world was at stake. For five days the mighty hosts stood facing each other, and then came the clash which was to resound all through the day. Presently the stars came out, and, with folded tents, the beaten Arabs silently stole away. Charles, ever afterward to be known as Martel (the Hammer), had crushed them forever, and the white man's civilization was saved.

Mr. Bird S. Coler Here.

Mr. Bird S. Coler, president of the North Carolina Public Service Company, is in the city stopping at the Guilford. Accompanying Mr. Coler are several gentlemen who are looking over Greensboro with a view to investing here. They are M. C. Donovan, Philadelphia; James E. Dugherly, W. F. Dugherly and P. J. Harold, New York.

Uncle Dan's trained Buffalo.

According to men of high medical authority, it has been decided and agreed that many of the ailments of mankind pack up their grips and leave when subjected to the strains of sweet music. Melancholia is dreadfully afraid of a lively air and most disorders of the "every day" sort take to their heels as "tigers before Teddy" when the melody of a cheering song is heard.

Then banish the doctors and "away" with medicines, for the words and music of the jolly, good song—"Dear Old East Side"—is to go free as a feature of next Sunday's New York World. This is the song that has helped draw crowds to Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre, New York, where Gus Edwards' "Song Review" is in full swing.

To be sure of getting this rejuvenating song order next Sunday's World from your newsdealers in advance.

A CHINESE BANQUET.

Culinary Mysteries That Bewildered an Englishwoman.

One moment we were eating ducks' eggs whose blackened, lime flavored whites indicated that their age was unimpeachable; the next we were grappling with sea weeds, macaroni and the slippery sharks' fins that eluded our clumsily manipulated sticks. Now we tackled—not without fear—unknown meats and vegetables cooked in sugar, fresh shrimps, mushrooms from Mongolia, young bamboo sprouts, piggeons' eggs and a hundred different foreign tasting messes. Then clean plates were given to us, and bowls of sticky pink sirup, sweet potato and Indian corn cakes of dusky hue were set before each one. These were only crevice fillers and concluded the first and lighter portion of the repast. Now came the real substantial meal, where in every dish had an accompaniment of smaller ones, containing gravies, etc., in which to dip the morsel taken from the central bowl.

There was stewed duck cooked without salt, roast sucking pig, forcemeat balls and chicken; there were soups of birds' nest, of mushroom, of vegetables and of sea slugs. There was grilled fresh water fish, which, according to custom, was helped from the top side only, for the Chinese remembers his servant. And, finally, at the conclusion the inevitable small bowl of rice and rice water was set before each person.

After some three hours, with a feeling of thankfulness that all was over, pipes, cigarettes and tea were served, and it seemed to me that the delicious aroma which rose from the latter soothed our senses and almost dispelled the antipathy that had been growing on us for all things Chinese.—Mary Moore in London Express.

Making It Plain.

"Popper," said little Willie Billups, "what does the paper mean when it says that when it comes to getting next to the people, Colonel Blinks has all the other candidates lashed to the mast?"

sert that Mr. Butler did not take for collection the reconstruction bonds but only the Stauffer bonds, and they say that, therefore, Butler is a worthy and proper leader.

They complain most bitterly that some Democrats have not kept Butler's record straight. I am in favor of not making any untrue charges against Butler.

In the first place it would be wrong, and in the second place it would be so thoroughly unnecessary.

If there is a man in the State that ought not to have a lie told on him that man is Butler.

The truth is as bad as any lie. Follow his career from 1892 till 1910, and what worse could you have? Such a leadership is odious, and what can be said of the following?

I can't say whether he is interested in the collection of the reconstruction bonds, but I do know that while he was yet a Senator from North Carolina, and while this State could not be sued on another set of bonds, he would not side with his State as to what was a proper settlement, but together with a man by the name of Pettigrew perpetrated a fraud on the State of South Dakota and North Carolina in order to confer jurisdiction on the Supreme Court of the United States to entertain an action against the sovereign State of North Carolina. Honorable men in South Dakota have apologized for the part that State was led by Butler and Pettigrew to play in that fraud on this State. Butler boasts of his part in the game as a virtue.

From the time he was traitor to Elias Carr, to the Alliance, to the cause of the Caucasian race when he loaned his "Caucasian" paper to negro domination, and to all the other things he first espoused and then betrayed down to this day, what good thing can be said of him and what bad thing that is worse than the truth?

(The tariff, the trusts, the railroad rate question, and subsidies were each discussed.)

Frudulent Bonds.

The people in North Carolina are assured by Mr. Morehead in an open letter he wrote to Gov. Aycock that Article 1 Sec. 6 of the Constitution makes it unconstitutional to pay the fraudulent reconstruction bonds without a vote of the people. He then innocently asks how can these bonds be collected by aid of a Republican State administration.

Let me point the way. Suppose Mr. Butler's friend and ex-newspaper correspondent and supporter, the bitter vindictive, and erratic Mr. T. T. Hicks were made Chief Justice and two other Republican sympathizers of Mr. Butler were made Associate Justices, and a Republican Legislature were elected, and a bond lobby had a million dollars to do business with, and Mr. Butler should advise that some way be devised to pay the bonds and save the honor of the State, and the Supreme Court of North Carolina should hold that the bondholders had vested rights in the bonds at the time Article 1 Section 6 of the State Constitution was adopted, and that, therefore, that provision of the constitution were invalid, then the next step would be a raid on the treasury.

We have a precedent of a recent Republican Supreme Court for raiding the treasury in violation of law.

INCREASE WEIGHT QUICKLY.

Simple Way for the Thin and Pale to Be Plump and Rosy.

Samose can hardly be termed a medicine, it is in reality a flesh-forming food. Taken before or after meals, it nimbles with the food you eat, enables it to assimilate and readily digest, so as to make rich blood and pleasing plumpness.

After Samose has been used a week or ten days a noticeable gain in weight is seen. The sallow complexion will become rosy, the sunken cheeks will have a ruddy glow, the eyes will be bright, the breath sweet and the step elastic.

Howard Gardner's customers have told him of the remarkable results following the use of Samose, the great flesh-forming food, and he is so thoroughly convinced of its reliability that he is selling it under his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

authority and section 3, article 14 of the State Constitution the courts cannot order money paid out of the State treasury except as provided by the Legislature, but a Republican court in the case of White against Ayer, State auditor—126 N. C. 570—did make its order under penalty of attachment for contempt for the auditor to issue a voucher to a Republican officeholder, and for the State treasurer to pay the voucher.

Following this precedent the money can be collected if the State Supreme court so wills it. If a Republican Legislature ants to recognize the binding obligation that a decision of the Supreme court holding the bonds are valid, they can pass an act to pay them as the money comes in, and then the bonds could be sold to innocent purchasers.

It would be according to the eternal fitness of things that a Republican Legislature should try to pay the bonds, a former Republican Legislature issued.

The only safe way is to keep out of power the folks who follow Butler, just as we put out of power the folks who followed Swepson.

Let me sound this note of warning! The New York committee of bondholders is not joking. They mean business, and they have no conscience, but plenty of "dough."

If some Democrats go wrong let us repudiate them. If the party sometimes goes wrong it is essential to reform it. But let us not give comfort to the enemies of the people who are trying to exploit them through the Republican party.

STEPPED IN FRONT OF MOVING STREET CAR.

Mr. William Prevost Seriously Injured Last Evening.

Mr. William Prevost was seriously injured last evening shortly before seven o'clock by stepping directly in front of a moving street car, which hurled him on the fender and rendering him unconscious. He was hurried to St. Leo's hospital and at a late hour last night was resting well. It was found that his left shoulder was dislocated.

Mr. Prevost, who is assistant car dispatcher for the Public Service Company, had been on duty near the fair grounds and going home, riding with Dr. J. J. Hilton in his auto. When near Mr. Prevost's home, just beyond the Normal, the auto slowed up and Mr. Prevost got out before the auto had stopped, intending to cross the street. He stepped directly on the car track, not seeing a car that was rapidly approaching. The car was only a few feet away when he stepped on the track and it was impossible for the motorman to stop. The unfortunate young man was hurled upon the fender and dragged several yards before the car stopped. He was taken up in an unconscious condition and placed in an auto and hurried to the hospital.

For a time it was thought that he was fatally injured, but an examination showed that there were no injuries of consequence excepting the dislocation of his shoulder. Of course, he was badly jarred by the force with which he was hurled upon the fender. The attending physicians state that he will be able to get out in a few days.

THE DIFFERENCE between a dollar saved and a dollar spent is just two dollars. Did it ever occur to you that way? It's worth thinking about.

Another difference is the feeling you have afterward. The dollar saved gives you a feeling of real pleasure—it may call for a little sacrifice for the time being, but afterward you feel better for having denied yourself and the dollar is still yours. That is the nice thing about having money in the bank—you have saved it—it is still yours—you can have it when you wish.

We make it a part of our business to urge you to have a bank account at this bank, for it not only helps our business but yours more so.

The Tempter Won.

When the late Baron Nordenskjold was at Ceylon on the way home from his journey along the northern coast of Siberia he received a telegram from the Russian government asking him whether he would accept from the czar a certain decoration as an appreciation of his services to Russia. For many days the famous explorer wavered, as he was a member of Bjornsterne Bjornson's Anti-decoration club, whose members were solemnly pledged never to accept any decoration from anybody. Nordenskjold, however, could not resist the temptation, so he replied to the telegram in the affirmative. It is not hard to imagine his disappointment when, upon reaching home, a friend of his, a high official, told him the following: "The Russian government was well aware of your antagonistic views in regard to decorations and had, therefore, placed in readiness 300,000 rubles to be paid you in the event of your refusing to accept the insignia, but before paying that sum they wanted to try your firmness. Russia is certainly grateful to you for your failure to live up to your pledge."

Death Was a Live One.

While on the way to the race track in New Orleans one day several winters ago an undertaker named Mr. Dooley passed a funeral procession on its way to the cemetery. Dooley had a friend with him, another Irishman, who exclaimed, "Sure, death always wins." There happened to be a horse entered that day named Death, and he won with ridiculous ease. Dooley winning a good bet on him. Dooley told all his friends of the incident, and they all went out to the course the next time Death was entered. He won every time he started for thirteen races. It was near get-away day, when every one was packing up ready to take the last train for New York. The horse was sold that afternoon at an auction sale, and the buyer was Mr. Dooley. He hitched him a month later to a hearse, and the horse became frightened and ran away and was not stopped until the graveyard was reached. After the burial Dooley had the horse shot and buried near the cemetery. "You're a dead one now, Death," said Dooley, "but a live one in those thirteen races."—Baltimore American.

The Fashion of the House.

A servant girl happened to be engaged at a farmhouse where the mistress was known to have a hasty temper. On the first Saturday night the girl was at the farmhouse she was told by the mistress to clean the boots ready for Sunday. The mistress on coming into the kitchen later on saw that the girl had cleaned her own boots first. So she took them up and threw them into a tub of water that was standing by and bounced out of the kitchen. The girl said nothing, but when she had cleaned the other boots she threw them also into the water. "Whatever possessed you to do that, girl?" asked the mistress on coming again in the kitchen. The girl simply replied: "Well, ma'am, please ma'am, I thought it was the fashion of the house, ma'am!"—London Tit-Bits.

HELEN TAFT TO HAVE A BRILLIANT DEBUT.

Probably Will Make Her Bow to Society at Great White House Ball on Christmas.

Washington, Oct. 11.—According to well-informed social mentors here it now appears that Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the President and the leading debutante of the season, will be presented to society at a Christmas ball to be given in the White House in her honor. To this ball will be invited the elite debutantes of American society, and it is expected to equal in brilliancy the coming out ball of Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the last White House debutante.

The news that Miss Taft will in all likelihood come out this year has had the effect of swelling the Washington debutante bouquet for the season. The Cabinet will contribute to the list Miss Hillegarde Nagel, the charming daughter of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, who has spent the last year traveling in Europe. Miss Nagel is highly accomplished.

The Diplomatic Corps so far furnishes the only debutante in Miss B. Villegas, sister of the Charge d'Affaires of the Argentine Legation. But doubtless some of the new diplomats who are coming in will have daughters of debutante age.

Miss Louise Cromwell, of New York and Washington, who was prevented from making her debut last year by the death of her father, will be presented at a tea in the late Fall. Another delayed debutante is Miss Margaret Barbour, who was taken seriously ill on the eve of her debut last year.

Among the other debutantes of the season are Miss Doris Haywood, the pretty and attractive daughter of Mrs. William Haywood; Miss Elizabeth Collins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Collins, of K street; Miss Dorothy Deeble, daughter of Mrs. Deeble and the late William Riley Deeble; Miss Louise D. Bayne, daughter of Mrs. Bayne and the late Dr. John W. Bayne; Miss Amy Richardson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Richardson; Miss Charlotte Pettus, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Pettus; Miss Margaretta Brooks, daughter of Mrs. E. H. Brooks, of the Highlands; Miss Helen Hendricks, daughter of Mrs. Davis Stewart Hendricks; Miss Alice Wright, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Dan Thew Wright; Miss Marie Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ray, and Miss Ida Norment Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odell S. Smith.

TESTING FIRE CLAY.

The Most Practical Method is to Literally Eat It.

Fire clay has been in use for centuries, and yet I believe the industry is one which lacks definite laws more than any other, including those which are either modern or ancient and of less prominence. You can go to a manufacturer of steel and specify what you want by actual figures or statements and you can check the product by chemical analysis or mechanical tests and thus make sure you get what you need. The producer knows how to combine certain elements and what quantities of various kinds to combine in order to get a result at least very closely approaching what you call for, but not so in the fire clay business. In the past the most skilled and highest salaried chemists have been employed to make tests, to promote and carry through investigations on the natural product and to study the workings of certain manufactured and elaborated articles derived therefrom. The result has been, generally speaking, confusion worse confounded. Two professors, working at similar times on brick or clay obtained from the same source and manufactured under exactly equal conditions, have recorded diametrically opposed conclusions! The same scientists at different periods have reached vastly varying conclusions when testing identical qualities and shapes of bricks, so can you wonder if a prominent fire clay manufacturer should exclaim, as I heard one on an occasion after having the above experience, "All tests of fire clay are empirical, and I would sooner trust our superintendent to pick and select his clays in the old fashioned way than pay a high fee for a highbrow's recommendations?" The chief method of testing fire clay by a practical man is literally to eat it. He can detect grit and sand best by that method, and a good fire clay (free from silica, quartzite or flint clay) is free from grit. His only other personal test is by experiment.—Engineering Magazine.

As It Used to Be.

Mildmay is a philosopher in his way. The other evening Mrs. M. gave him a scolding that would have made almost any other man crazy. But Mildmay said never a word in reply. He only murmured to himself:

"And that is the woman I used to hold on my knee and call my little tootsy wootsy."

Cough Syrup,
For Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, and all other respiratory troubles. It is the most reliable remedy for children's colds. Price 25 Cents.

MOTHERS should be careful about colds and coughs that affect their children. It is not only dangerous but absolutely cruel to experiment on little ones with untested and untried remedies. The baby as well as the older brother and sister should be given a safe and reliable remedy. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is such. A record of cures prove it. There is no danger to the child from its use. Simply give it as directed and it will afford, first, quick relief; second, speedy riddance of the cold and cough. Children like it because so pleasant to the taste, and mothers praise it because so prompt and effective. Homes that have this remedy handy, suffer no terrors.

Health and Happiness Shared by Child and Mother.

Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. J. H. Brenstein, 128 N. Marshfield Ave., writes: "I use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup mainly for the baby's cough and cold. He had several colds this winter and the syrup cured him each time. I have also used it for myself for a sore throat, cough, and cold in the head, and found relief. I came to know Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup when I was small, and mother used it for our colds and coughs; so you see I must be satisfied with it."

MOTHERS, if you or one of the children have a cold or cough, hoarseness, bronchitis, croup, whooping-cough, grippe, etc., first test that trustworthy remedy, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, before you spend any of your money.

REPORTS ON FIRE FIGHTING APPARATUS CALLED FOR.

All Cities In Which Firemen Are To Participate Should Send in Report.

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—The clerks of the various towns in North Carolina that expect to participate in the benefits of the Firemen's Benefit Fund provided through taxation levied against the insurance companies on the basis of the policies maintained in the various towns, are being called upon just now by Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young, for reports on the status of the fire fighting apparatus and the observance of the state laws against fire waste. Towns that have as much as $1,000 invested in fire fighting apparatus are allowed to share this fund. The tax against the fire insurance companies is one half of one per cent on the policies in vogue in the respective towns. Each town gets the entire tax that is paid on the business done in the town by the various insurance companies. Only the companies that have their home offices in other states are subject to this tax.

Capt. M. M. Drake, of the Weldon company of the North Carolina National Guard, has notified the adjutant general's office here and officers of the Raleigh military company that the Weldon company expects to take in the great State Fair and Home Coming next week coming probably on Wednesday. It is probable that the company will be induced to take a place in the ranks of the parade for that day from the head of Fayetteville street out to the fair grounds.
